III. Structured Questions 📝✨

1. With reference to the sources of information about Jainism and Buddhism, state the significance of the following:

- (a) Angas: The Angas are the 12 parts compiling Lord Mahavira's teachings, considered the most important part of Jain doctrines. They discuss religious rites, stages of a householder's life, vows of chastity, and the strict rules of conduct for a Jain monk. 📜
- (b) Tripitikas: Tripitikas, literally meaning 'Three Baskets', are the most important literary works of the Buddhists written in the Pali language. Comprising the Vinaya, Sutta, and Abhidhamma Pitakas, they provide a highly reliable source for Buddhist religion, philosophy, and a glimpse into the socio-economic life of that ancient era. 🧺

- (c) Jatakas: Jatakas are tales describing the previous births of the Buddha in both human and animal forms. They throw significant light on the political, economic, and social conditions from the 5th to the 2nd century BCE while highlighting core Buddhist morals and ethics. 🐘

2. With reference to Jainism and Buddhism, answer the following questions:

- (a) Give briefly the background of the socio-economic conditions in 6th century BCE: During this period, Aryan settlements expanded to the east, and the newly introduced iron tools enabled people to clear forests for surplus agricultural production and settled life. This territorial expansion resulted in tribal wars and the formation of powerful independent kingdoms called mahajanapadas, creating an environment where orthodox religious practices began to be actively challenged. 🌾
- (b) State any three causes for the rise of Jainism and Buddhism: First, religious rituals and ceremonies had become highly expensive and out of reach for ordinary people. Second, the rigid caste system prevented social mobility and caused great suffering among the lower castes. Third, Vedic literature was composed in Sanskrit, a difficult language that common people could not understand, pushing them to seek simpler alternatives. 🛑
- (c) How are the religions similar?: Both religions were founded by Kshatriya princes and openly rejected the authority of the Vedas, the rigid caste system, and empty rituals like yajnas. Furthermore, both emphasized non-violence (ahimsa), believed in the theory of Karma and rebirth, and preached in common languages to reach the masses. 🤝

3. With reference to Jainism answer the following questions:

- (a) Who was Mahavira? Why was he called Jina?: Vardhamana Mahavira was the twenty-fourth and last tirthankara who made Jainism popular and systematic, earning him the title of its founder. He was called Jina (meaning the conqueror) because he successfully conquered his inner desires, attachments, and senses to attain supreme enlightenment (omniscience). 🧘

- (b) State the five vows which a Jain householder has to take: The five vows are non-violence (Ahimsa), not to tell a lie (Satya), not to steal (Asteya), not to own property, and practising chastity (Brahmacharya). ✋
- (c) State the Jains' view on Karma and Salvation: Jains believe strongly in the Karma theory, stating that every individual is responsible for their own actions, and good deeds alone can liberate a person from the cycle of birth and death. Salvation (Moksha) can only be achieved by leading a highly austere life based on non-violence and self-denial, along with practising the tri-ratnas. ⚖️

4. With reference to Buddhism, answer the following questions:
   - (a) Who was Gautama Buddha? How did he achieve enlightenment?: Gautama Buddha, originally named Siddharth, was the founder of Buddhism and belonged to the Kshatriya clan of Sakya. He attained enlightenment at the age of thirty-five by meditating under a peepal tree at Bodh Gaya in Bihar, after leaving his royal life and practising severe penance. 🌳
   - (b) What is known as 'Dharmachakrapravartana'?: Dharmachakrapravartana refers to the historic event where Buddha delivered his very first sermon at the Deer Park in Sarnath in the presence of five ascetics. It literally translates to "the turning of the wheel of sacred law". ☸️
   - (c) Why did Buddha have a large following?: Buddha gained a massive following because his religion offered a simple "middle path" that avoided extreme penance and was open to all classes of society. He preached universal brotherhood, compassion for the weak, and placed importance on good moral conduct rather than claims of superiority based on birth. 🌍

5. With reference to the given pictures, answer the questions that follow:
   - (a) State the other two scenes associated with these pictures. What are the four scenes together called?: The pictures in the book display a sick man and an ascetic. The other two associated scenes are an old man bent with age and a dead body being carried for cremation. Together, these four defining moments are called the 'Four Great Sights'. 👀

- (b) Explain briefly the impact of each of these scenes on Gautam Buddha: The painful sights of the old man, the sick man, and the dead body deeply moved Gautama, forcing him to think critically about human suffering and man's ultimate destiny. Conversely, the sight of the ascetic searching for salvation consoled him and showed him a potential path to peace. 💭
- (c) What was the final outcome of these scenes on Gautam Buddha? State the two events which followed the final outcome: The final outcome was that Gautama left his royal home, wife, and child to find a permanent solution to suffering, an event known as The Great Renunciation (Mahabhiskramana). Two events that immediately followed were his wandering to study under renowned teachers in Rajgriha, and his eventual attainment of Enlightenment at Bodh Gaya. 🚪

6. With reference to the given pictures, answer the questions that follow:

- (a) Identify the two preachers, whose images are given. Name the religions founded by them: Image (A) shows Vardhamana Mahavira, the prominent founder and 24th tirthankara of Jainism. Image (B) shows Gautama Buddha, the founder of Buddhism. 🖼️
- (b) Mention three main teachings of each of the two religions founded by these preachers: Jainism teaches the necessity of the Tri-ratnas for salvation, the practice of extreme penance/austere life, and absolute non-violence towards all living beings. Buddhism teaches the realization of the Four Noble Truths, walking the Eightfold Path, and achieving Nirvana by extinguishing desire and greed. 📖
- (c) Mention any two similarities and two dissimilarities between the two religions founded by them: Both religions are similar because they openly rejected the ritualistic Vedas and strictly preached ahimsa (non-violence). They are dissimilar because Jainism advocates for severe penance (such as starvation) while Buddhism promotes a balanced "Middle Path," and Jains believe in an eternal soul while Buddha remained largely silent on the explicit nature of God. ⚖️
